

Lappset Sona

Interactive dance and play arch

The Sona brings an exciting, inclusive, and positive gaming experience to a wide audience. Sona's intuitive design responds when you move underneath it and, at the press of a button, unleashes a wide variety of games, ensuring there's something for everyone. Through the online platform, owners can download different games, from cognitive challenges to fitness activities, offering a range of experiences.

1. Sona Offers Inclusive Play for All Ages

The Sona playset is designed to be inclusive for all ages and abilities, with a barrier-free entrance for easy access. From toddlers to seniors, the Sona allows for multigenerational play and offers a variety of games to cater to different player preferences and playstyles. Our online platform allows for easy access to games, ensuring that the Sona can be tailored to meet the needs of all users at any given time.

2. A Playground Staple

Sona is more than just a playset—it's an integral part of any playspace with an expected lifetime of 15+ years. Sona adds a new dimension to play values, offering brain-boosting activities that encourage problem-solving and creativity, as well as physical challenges that enhance motor skills and stamina. From games promoting music appreciation and imagination to those testing quick reflexes, Sona brings fresh and exciting energy to the playground, ensuring long-lasting enjoyment for years to come.

3. Developed for the outdoor area

Our interactive playground equipment is designed with one main goal: to give our customers peace of mind. We frequently receive questions about our products' durability against vandalism, the maintenance they need, and their suitability for harsh weather conditions. We've carefully crafted our products to exceed your expectations.

Examples of games

Freeze

Dance to the music. Stop dancing when the music stops. A friendly shout-out will be given to the last person who stops, and then we'll keep playing together!

Commando

Listen to the arch and do what the arch says. Stand on a color, number, or shape. Work together or alone. When you are successful, you'll level up.

Dance Battle

One team dances on the blue circles. The other team dances on the green circles.

Reaction Race

Race to the numbers and beat the highest score of the day.

Sona creates interaction

The sensor in the arch and the Funky Floor are the starting point for explaining the Sona since they are essential to the game! Imagine you are walking in a park, and you spot a large arch. Your curiosity is piqued immediately, and you take a closer look. Suddenly, the Sona will come to life with a whistle or by asking if you want to play a game. This marks the beginning of your interactive journey with the Sona!

The beautiful arch is a true standout, and its vibrant and colourful floor offers an eye-catching complement. The motion sensing technology integrated into the top of the arch can register any movements made below.

That means: If you stand on the number one, the sensor registers it. So in case you're wondering how a playset can greet you, it's the motion sensor that's well stored in the arch and not a pressure sensor or something similar under the floor.

Did you know that

The Sona has been designed to be fully inclusive through flexibility. Not every game will fulfil every user's needs, but we offer many games with different experiences for different player preferences and playstyles.
